

MoLow commented on Jun 14, 2022 • edited ▼

Member

Refs: #43415

also, once #43403 is handled - it can probably be a good idea to implement/export a top-level implementation of `before`, `beforeEach`, `after`, `afterEach` where the parent test is found using `executionAsyncId` - the same way it is done in this PR

5

MoLow commented on Jun 14, 2022 • edited ▼

Member

Refs: #43415

also, once #43403 is handled - it can probably be a good idea to implement/export a top-level implementation of `before`, `beforeEach`, `after`, `afterEach` where the parent test is found using `executionAsyncId` - the same way it is done in this PR

5

